Happy New Year 2025!

As we step into the new year, I want to take this moment to wish you and your families a very Happy New Year! May 2025 bring health, happiness, and success to all of us.

Reflecting on 2024, it was undoubtedly a year of challenges. We faced pressure on costs and stagnancy on the revenue front, which led us to make tough decisions, including downsizing our team. Despite these hurdles, I am deeply grateful for the resilience, dedication, and unwavering commitment shown by every member of GlobalVox. You have been the driving force behind our ability to navigate these testing times.

Looking ahead to 2025, I am optimistic about the opportunities that lie before us. This year, we will consolidate our ERP practice, fortifying our position in the market and delivering even greater value to our clients. Additionally, we are excited to expand into Cybersecurity vertical and AuctionX - Blockchain based auction platform, where we see tremendous potential for growth.

Happy New Year 2025!

Another key focus for 2025 will be establishing partnerships as the offshore product development arm for Independent Software Vendors (ISVs) in the USA and UK. This will allow us to strengthen our global footprint and diversify our service offerings.

We are also ready to take our first steps into the world of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Machine Learning (ML). By starting with smaller projects and contracts, we aim to gain a foothold in these cutting edge technologies and position ourselves for future growth in this domain.

As we chart this ambitious path forward, I want to take a moment to thank each of you for your continued support, hard work, and belief in GlobalVox's vision. It is your dedication that fuels our success, and I am confident that with your support, we will make 2025 a year of remarkable achievements.

Let's embrace this new year with renewed energy, focus, and determination. Together, we can overcome any challenge and reach greater heights.

Leo’s Roar

by Leo

Greetings team! Leo here. Well, its that time of the year … time to make our New Year’s Resolutions! So, lets jump in and get this done. I ‘m keeping my list to 2 resolutions: exercise 3 times per week and take at least one technical course each month. Hmmm … sounds like Pratik’s personal improvement plan. Yep … and it works, too.

Resolutions are a promise to do something important in the new year. It’s a time to reflect on where we’ve been … and where we’re going. It’s a new beginning. The first day of the rest of our lives. A time to rededicate ourselves to what matters most to us. So, with that in mind, I’m going to add another resolution to my list: spend more time with my family and friends. Yep … that’s most important to me.
Oh, and a couple of things to remember:

1. Keep your list short. No more than five things to do/improve.
2. Make a good faith effort to accomplish your goals. Start over if you back slide.
3. Write your resolutions down and refer to them every day. What’s on your mind gets your attention.

My challenge to all my fellow GlobalVoxers is to stop and reflect on what matters most to you… and commit to doing three or more important things in the new year. Focus on the future. And give it your best effort!

And be prepared to share your progress with the Team during our Org-wide Calls. That’s how we’ll discipline ourselves to keep out promises to ourselves.

So … until next month, as Kunalsinh says, ““Be Safe, Work Hard, Eat Well, Sleep Tight”. I will!

Bye for now … Leo

Holiday’s Of the Month

Makar Sankranti

14th January (Tuesday)

Makar Sankranti, celebrated across India, holds many fascinating stories. In Gujarat, where it is believed the festival marks the day Lord Vishnu ended the terror of demons. Legend says Lord Vishnu decapitated the demons and buried their heads under the Mandara Parvat, symbolizing the triumph of good over evil and the end of negativity.

Another unique tradition revolves around kite flying. It is said that in ancient times, people flew kites to express gratitude to the Sun God for abundant harvests and to send prayers closer to heaven. The kites symbolized freedom from darkness as they soared high during Uttarayan, the Sun's northward journey.

This festival, beyond its colorful festivities, teaches resilience, gratitude, and unity, reminding us of the harmony between nature and humankind. Each kite flying high carries centuries of faith, joy, and hope for a prosperous year ahead.

Republic Day

26th January (Sunday)

Indian Republic Day, celebrated on January 26 every year, is a momentous occasion in India's history. It commemorates the day in 1950 when the Indian Constitution came into effect, making India a sovereign, democratic republic. This day represents the culmination of years of struggle for freedom and the vision of a nation governed by its people.

The celebrations are marked with grandeur, including a spectacular parade in New Delhi. The parade showcases India's cultural diversity, military strength, and advancements in various fields, while state tableaux highlight the rich heritage of different regions. The event concludes with a mesmerizing flypast by the Indian Air Force.

Republic Day is more than a celebration; it is a reminder of our responsibilities as citizens. It urges every Indian to uphold the values of justice, equality, and liberty enshrined in the Constitution. The day inspires unity and pride in the nation's progress and democratic ideals.

Martin Luther King Day

20th January (Monday)

Martin Luther King Jr. Day, celebrated on the third Monday of January, honors the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a transformative leader of the American civil rights movement.

Dr. King dedicated his life to the pursuit of racial equality, justice, and human rights, advocating for change through nonviolent resistance. His leadership in historic events like the Montgomery Bus Boycott and the March on Washington helped dismantle segregation and inspire societal progress. Dr. King's famous "I Have a Dream" speech, delivered in 1963, remains a symbol of hope and equality, urging people to strive for a world free from racism and discrimination.

Established as a federal holiday in 1983, Martin Luther King Jr. Day is not only a time for reflection on his ideals but also a call to action, encouraging individuals to engage in community service and uphold the values of justice, peace, and equality.
